IN REVIEW, 1939

The year 1939 was not an especially eventful one in Dublin but it is interesting to reflect upon some occurrences.

Our $2 tax rate was the lowest in years, a minimum for Cheshire County, and one of the lowest in the State.

Of the $20,000 borrowed for Flood Work, intended to be settled in quarterly sums of $5,000 each, during 1940, '41, '42 and '43, there has been paid back $15,000. This will eliminate a considerable amount of interest money; the recommended budget provides for the payment of the remaining $5,000 the current year.

The re-building of the Community Church steeple was satisfactorily completed the past summer. During the hurricane of September 21, 1938, the original steeple was blown over, penetrating the roof of the church. From California to Florida there came subscriptions for its re-construction and friends of all denominations contributed to the fund for the new spire.

Among the native residents there was but one death during the past year and but two deaths occurred in town in 1939.

The experiment of snow plowing of private avenues on the basis of stated payments from the subscribers at a rate fixed by the selectmen and road agent, is being watched with interest.

NOTICE

We, the Selectmen of Dublin, N. H., do solemnly swear that in making the invoice for the purposes of assessing the foregoing taxes, we appraised all taxable property at its full and true value and as we would appraise the same in payment of a just debt from a solvent debtor. So help us God.

REPORT OF ROAD AGENT

During the past year we put out on to the Town roads 2,317 yards of gravel; laid 264 feet of concrete pipe; and relaid 72 feet of metal pipe.

We replanked four bridges.

All tar roads were given a seal coat, we surface treated from Mrs. Gordon's to the foot of Pellerin's Hill, on the Jaffrey road. This was the first application. We put out 115 yards of cold patch, and spread 10,625 gallons of tar.

Chloride was applied on sections of the Jaffrey, Old Marlboro, and Old Harrisville roads, and several roads were spot-treated.

Bushes were cut and burned on several roads.

All roads were scraped and dragged several times, with the exception of those roads taken over by the State for Flood repair.

Removed many large stones and cleaned up the Hurricane damage at the Tool House Lot and gravel bank.

Snow fence was repaired and placed at drifting sections.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF CEMETERY

There was but one death last year among Dublin's native residents, and one among summer residents, an unusual record.

There were four interments in the cemetery during the year; several lots were engaged and one Perpetual Care Trust Fund was received.

The stone walls which separated the newly acquired Frothingham Addition have been removed and new ones built along the highways to enclose the entire tract.

More than sixty tree stumps have been removed; two entrances provided for a driveway through the newly developed part. Two new gates will be required and a cement culvert is needed.

Filling, grading and seeding should be done this coming season and shrubbery set out in the lower land at the west junction of the roads.

Mrs. J. L. Mauran has expressed pleasure at being invited to supervise the planting and said she "would do so with pleasure," stating that her "ideas are simple and that cleaning up the ground is already the greatest improvement."

"I think all that is needed now is some interesting planting of laurel and swamp pink. They can be arranged in charming masses and will be lovely during the blooming season and give a nice ground cover during the entire year."

This expression of interest and cooperation is sincerely appreciated. The entire development is of a permanent nature and when finished, will be finally cared for.

The report of the librarian for the year ending January 31, 1940 is herewith submitted.

In a third corner of the reading room shelves were built to care for the ever increasing juvenile books. The twenty dollar gift of Mrs. Stanley McCormack was used to help defray the expense.

A deposit box has been built in the entry so that any time borrowers choose to leave their books, they can be deposited in this manner.

It is interesting to note that twenty dollars has been received from the source of charging non-residents for using the library, in the past two years.

SCHOOL DISTRICT REPORTS

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL BUILDING

(Picture on Front Page)

In the year 1773, is found the first record of Dublin's appropriation for schools. It was a grant of four pounds ($13.33) "to keep a woman's school in three parts of the town," which would give each school $4.44. At 44 cents per week, the usual price in those days, this would employ a teacher, if she "boarded round," ten weeks in each of the three places.

In 1777, no money was raised for the purpose of education. In 1780, the Selectmen were authorized "to assess what they think proper for schools." In 1787, a school was held in the house of John Stroud, where the scholars sat on shingle blocks; later this became district No. 17, in Pottersville. There is no evidence or record that any schoolhouse was erected in Dublin previous to 1784. No money was raised for schools that year but on December 17, it was "voted to build seven school-houses at the cost of the town," to divide the town into districts and "to pitch upon the place for each schoolhousen." Only one schoolhouse was heated by a stove in 1820; the others were poorly warmed by fireplaces which consumed a cord of wood each week in cold weather.

Samuel Appleton, of Boston, replied to an invitation to the Centennial celebration in Dublin, June 17, 1852, expressing sincere thanks, "but regretted that age and infirmities prevented."

In his letter he states, "I have always taken an interest in the town of Dublin. In about the year 1786, I resided there for four months, and was engaged, during that time in teaching two different schools, say of two months each, at $8. per month." (Note: Mr. Appleton was said to have received his pay in rye, delivered to him in New Ipswich by Ivory Perry.)

"One of the districts was in the 'Street,' as it was called; the other in the easterly part of the town, near Peterborough. In this latter district, it was arranged for the schoolmaster to live with the family that would board and lodge him the cheapest. Having been informed where I was to board, I set out for my new home on foot, carrying the greater part of my wardrobe on my back and the remainder tied up in a bandanna handkerchief. On arriving at the place of my destination, I found my host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks, ready and apparently glad to see me. They were to receive for my board, lodging and washing, 67 cents per week. Their house was made of logs, with only one room in it, which served for parlor, kitchen and bedroom.

"I slept on a trundle-bed, which, during the day, was wheeled under the large bed, where the master and mistress reposed during the night. Every morning and evening there were family prayers and readings from the Bible, in which I sometimes took an active part. After spending two weeks at Mr. Fairbanks', I removed to Mr. Perry's. He was a good farmer, his wife an excellent housekeeper, and I finished my school term very pleasantly to myself, and, I believe, very satisfactorily to my employers.

It is apparent that Mr. Appleton eventually engaged in an occupation more lucrative financially than teaching school in Dublin, for he indorsed his cheque of $1,000. with which to constitute an Educational Trust Fund. Mr. Appleton also provided money at another date, with which to found Appleton Academy, in New Ipswich, his native town, an institution which still functions.

Construction work on the new Consolidated School building, designed by the late J. L. Mauran, was begun in 1916, and the first session of school in it was held in the fall of 1918. The building, of brick construction, has its water supply from an artesian well, and in addition to the class rooms is provided with a large auditorium and stage, manual training equipment, kitchen and dining room, boys and girls showers.

The district schoolhouses formerly used have been disposed of: No. 1 is used for Historical purposes, and Nos. 2, 3 and 4 are occupied as dwellings; No. 6 has been taken down.

Principal Tobey has made the following contribution:

"Over a period of several years, the school program has been gradually enriched to include many special subjects.

"The children now enjoy the benefits of instruction in the fine arts, supervised by specially trained teachers. A well-equipped shop makes possible woodworking for the older boys. The girls in the upper grades receive a limited amount of work in handicraft. The recent additions to the building make it possible to serve hot lunches to those staying at noon. This work is done entirely by the children under teacher supervision. Work in dramatics and public speaking is also carried on. In nature classes, much time is given on the conservation of wild life resources. Playground and gymnasium activities add interest to the daily routine, while interscholastic athletic competition allows an opportunity for social contact. Infrequent field trips in science and social study classes add interest and understanding to problems and situations not easily brought to the class room.

"The addition of special subjects to the school program in no way detracts from the regular work in essential fundamentals but contributes immeasurably to the main object of American Education, to turn out good American citizens."

REPORT OF THE DUBLIN SCHOOL BOARD

To the Citizens of the Dublin School District:

We hereby submit the one hundred and eighteenth annual report of the school.

In the last six years there has been a steady increase in the school enrollment which amounts altogether to about fifty percent. This necessitated the securing of a fourth regular teacher one year ago last fall, and this last fall we have been obliged to replace a small bus with a large one at the western end of the township. The school census of last fall indicates that the enrollment will be at least as large during the next four years.

A few improvements have been made in the school property. A petition has been built in the boy's basement shutting off the manual training space from the passage to the showers and toilets. Sufficient gravel has been put in the driveway and yard to make a decided improvement in that respect. Other minor repairs and painting have improved the property.

The school board feels that the Sterling Good Citizenship awards have been most worth while. Interest in birds continues under the stimulating leadership of Mr. Tobey. Hot lunches are again a feature of the winter school sessions. A good sum of money was raised for this purpose last fall. This in addition to the five cents paid by all pupils who can possibly afford it each meal makes the project possible.

We have been fortunate in keeping our teachers from last year. The School Board appreciates the fine cooperation it has always enjoyed with Mr. Record. We regret very much that we had to lose Mrs. Beaulieu from the Board just when we thought we had successfully replaced Mrs. Meryman whose work had been so valuable. We have appreciated the interest and cooperation of Mrs. William Leonard, the latest member of the board. (We insert this last without her permission.)

The policy with respect to the use of the school building continues as previously stated. We are anxious to have it serve every constructive purpose in the community that cannot otherwise be provided for.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS TO THE DUBLIN SCHOOL BOARD

I submit herewith my sixth annual report of the Dublin Consolidated schools, together with the statistical table and summary.

The enrollment for the present school year is 103 as compared with 95 for the same period last year.

It is interesting to note the growth of the Consolidated school during the past six years as shown by the following figures.

School year	1933-34	83
	1934-35	85
	1935-36	78
	1936-37	92
	1937-38	88
	1938-39	102
(Half year)	1939-40	103

The increase of some twenty pupils over this period explains the somewhat larger demands for books and supplies to meet present day requirements.

It is the aim of the school board, superintendent and teachers to make this school a real community center and to keep the parents in as close touch with the work of the school as possible.

I would call attention to the capable manner in which Miss Grimes has assisted in the hot lunches which are so important in a school where so many pupils are transported. I would also mention the special work of Miss Worters in scenery, art, and music, and to the appreciable progress made by Miss Gunn in the new system of reading introduced in the primary grades this year.

Our music supervisor, Mrs. Whitcomb, has been enabled to resume her weekly classes this year, and the school has shown a definite improvement in this subject.

In nature, Mr. Tobey has completed a new program on conservation. This is one of the very few schools where nature study has included bird banding.

The gymnasium provides a splendid opportunity for recreation and inter-class basketball games have been played as well as school games with similar grades in neighboring towns.

Plans for the coming spring include the beautification of the school grounds with the co-operation of the Dublin Garden Club.

I wish to thank the school board, teachers, pupils and citizens for their cordial support in carrying on the work of the Consolidated school.
